“ Ralph told me this story several times so my Dad must have made an impression on him with this....he always chuckled telling me and I always said, "I could just see my Dad doing this." Ralph said, "Your Dad was under the hood of a car in the station. A customer came in with a complaint on his car that was serviced recently. The customer ran his mouth for several minutes sort of hollering at your Dad. Your Dad just kept on working and never said a word...the customer said, "Well, what do you think?" And Don real calmly said, "You'll have to talk to the boss." Ralph really got a kick out of that.....My heart goes out to all of you, Marlene Wilson, Darla Stitt, Kathy & Lana.....all of his family
